

PhoneTell for Android: Personal Telephone Assistant & Reverse White/Yellow Pages Lookup

By Todd Ogasawara on May 25, 2010 03:15 AM

Here's an interesting service/app combination that currently only works on recent model Android phones. Specifically, PhoneTell lists support for the Nexus One, Droid and Incredible.

PhoneTell taps Web for proper mobile caller ID (CNET)

It provides a number of useful personal assistant type features such as:

- Respond to an incoming voice call with a pre-set or custom text message or email response
- Remind you to return a call

CNET reports that the service can also perform a reverse white-pages lookup and tell you who is calling. This includes known telemarketers.

PhoneTell's website notes that support for BlackBerry and iPhone is under development. Their app depends on Android's multitasking ability. So, my guess is that the iPhone version is awaiting the arrival of iPhone OS 4.0.

You can find PhoneTell's website at:

<http://www.phonetell.com/>

Mobile Apps, Devices & Reviews...On the Go

 MobileContentToday in Your Inbox

 Mobile Version  RSS Feed